

Alexandria Gazette

THURSDAY EVENING, MAY 10.

JOURNALISM MILITANT.—A gentleman, a native of Mississippi, recently died near Houston, Texas, and one of the most remarkable circumstances in his life, according to a local journal, was that he had been editorially connected with the Vicksburg Sentinel for nearly a year without fighting a duel or taking part in any encounter. To persons who are acquainted with the beligerent record of the editor of the Sentinel the circumstance will seem almost incredible, since it used to be said in Vicksburg that no man could stay on the paper a month without shooting or being shot at, and in three months he was almost certain to kill or be killed. The Sentinel no longer exists, but during its continuance of five and thirty years there was more warfare among the members of its staff than there has been among the members of any other staff since the foundation of the Republic. Dr. James Hagan was the first editor to attract attention, and consequently to provoke hostilities. He was a native of the North, small, quiet-mannered, very polite and amiable in ordinary social intercourse, but one of the fiercest of fire eaters.

In 1835 and 1839 he had several desperate street fights and two duels—one with the editor of the first sheet, the Whig, in which he killed two men and was himself three times wounded. Between that time and 1842 he had seven more encounters, killed two more men, and received five or six pistol-balls in different parts of his body. In the spring of that year he abandoned the habit of carrying weapons, and the following June was shot dead by Daniel W. Adams (an utter stranger to him), who killed him, he said, on account of an article reflecting on his father, Judge George Adams. James F. Hall, another editor of the gunpowder journal, fought several duels, and was twice severely wounded. James Downs, another editor, was badly hurt in a "chivalrous" meeting with T. E. Robbins, a banker, who considered himself aggrieved.

Walter Hickey, another Sentinel man, had a street fight, mortally wounded Dr. Downs, formerly on the paper, and was afterwards killed in an encounter in Texas. James Ryan, still another editor of the Sentinel, was killed by R. K. Hammett, of the Whig. George Jenkins, his successor, was also killed in front of the office by H. A. Crabbe, whom he associated. Many other light and serious duels were made, given and received by the Sentinel men.—New York Tribune.

1877 THE QUARTERLY REVIEWS

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE, CO., 41 Barclay Street, New York, continue their authorized reprint of the four leading Quarterly Reviews: Edinburgh Review, Whig; London Quarterly Review, Conservative; Westminster Review, Liberal; British Quarterly Review, Evangelical, and Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine.

The British Quarterly gives to the reader the digested information upon the great events in contemporary history, and contains masterly criticisms on all that is fresh and valuable in literature, as well as a summary of the triumphs of science and art. The works likely to convulse all Europe will form topics for discussion that will be treated with a thoroughness and ability nowhere else to be found. Blackwood's Magazine is famous for stories, essays and sketches of the highest literary merit.

TERMS per annum, including postage, payable strictly in advance. For any one Review $4; for any two Reviews $7; for any three Reviews $10; for any four Reviews $12; for Blackwood's Magazine $4; for Blackwood and one Review $7; for Blackwood and two Reviews $9; for Blackwood and three Reviews $12; for Blackwood and the four Reviews $15.

CLUBS.—A discount of twenty per cent will be allowed to clubs of four or more persons. Thus: Four copies of Blackwood or of one Review will be sent to one address for $12.50; four copies of the four Reviews and Blackwood for $45, and so on.

PREMIUMS.—New subscribers (applying early) for the year 1877 may have, without charge, the numbers for the last quarter of 1876 of such periodicals as they may subscribe for. Neither premiums to subscribers nor discount to clubs can be allowed unless the money is remitted direct to the publishers. No premiums given to clubs.

Circulars with further particulars may be had on application.

WILSON'S COMPOUND OF PURE GOLD LIVER OIL AND LIME.—The advantage of this compound over the plain oil is that the nauseating taste of the Oil is entirely removed, and the whole rendered entirely palatable. The offensive taste of the Oil has long acted as a prominent objection to its use, but in this form the trouble is entirely obviated. For sale by WARFIELD & HALL,
